

Walden Status Report

This week I have been thinking about the high overview of how we are going to tackle the overall coding problems related to our project.

Because I have been busy with other school projects and research, along with Drill Duties I have not been able to get much done with putting all this into the report.

I will however be working on the overall team report on our way of tackling this problem this week.

Some things I still need to do:

- I need to fix our teams communication problems.
- Need to get our team on task so that we can complete recurring deadlines on time.
- Figure out how to break apart the project in such a way that all three of us are doing work instead of just two of us.
